1.0 Document overview

1.1 Purpose

The purpose of this Netwealth Trading Policy (Policy) is to ensure that public confidence is maintained in the reputation of Netwealth and its related bodies corporate (together, the Group), the directors and employees of the Group and in the trading of Netwealth's securities.

The Policy sets out the procedures and obligations for employees and directors of the Group when buying and selling Financial Products and/or Netwealth securities. This Policy forms part of Netwealth's Code of Conduct and failure by employees and directors of the Group to comply with the Policy could lead to disciplinary action.

The Policy recognises that some types of trading in securities are prohibited by Australian law.

2.0 What is the Insider Trading restriction?

2.1 Inside Information

Inside Information is information that is not Generally Available to the public (also referred to as non-public information) and if it were Generally Available, a reasonable person would expect it to have material effect (upwards or downwards) on the price or value of a Financial Product. Employees or their Connected Persons may come into possession of Inside Information where they are directly involved in client relationship management or negotiating contracts. For example, where a person is aware that Netwealth or Group is about to sign a major agreement with another company, that person should not buy or sell securities in either the Company or the other company.

Inside Information may include:

- matters of supposition and other matters that are insufficiently definite to warrant being made known to the public;
- matters that are not yet certain; and
- matters relating to a person's intentions or likely intentions.

If the information may influence a person's decision to buy or sell a Financial Product and is not Generally Available it should be considered as Inside Information.

2.2 No trading while in possession of Inside Information

Insider Trading refers to buying or selling a security while in the possession of Inside Information about that security or sharing Inside Information about a security with others.

Employees and their Connected Persons are prohibited from:

- Dealing or subscribing or agreeing to trade in any Financial Product in which they have inside information;
- Getting another person to deal, subscribe or trade in any Financial Product in which they have Inside Information; and
- Directly or indirectly communicating the Inside Information to another person who is likely to trade in the Financial Product.

Netwealth has notified Employees that they (or their Connected Persons) must not deal in securities (either for a specified period, or until the Company gives further notice).

2.3 Front Running

Front Running is trading a security with the intention to profit based on knowledge of a platform trade that is reasonably expected to impact on the price of the security/s.

Netwealth is a Responsible Entity and Custodian of assets. As such Employees of Netwealth may from time to time become aware of information that would be considered as Inside Information. The following are a few examples of Inside Information (note that this is not a full list) and include awareness of:

- the intention of a particular adviser or broker to purchase a particular stock (front running);
- the intention of a Model Manager to change stocks in a portfolio (front running);
- material changes in stocks due to trading patterns;
- intentions to vote, or otherwise, where the outcome could influence the share price.

2.4 The Front Page Test – Netwealth Securities

It is important that public confidence in the Group is maintained. It would be damaging to the Group's reputation if the market or the general public perceived that Employees might be taking advantage of their position in the Group to make financial gains (by trading in Netwealth Securities on the basis of Inside Information).

As a guiding principle, Employees should ask themselves:

If the market was aware of all the current circumstances, could the proposed trading be perceived by the market as taking advantage of my position in an inappropriate way? How would it look if the transaction were reported on the front page of the newspaper? (The Front Page Test).

If the Employee is unsure, he or she (or their Connected Person) should email trading@netwealth.com.au which is the email address utilised by the Company Secretary to manage trading queries.

Where any approval is required for a trading under this Policy, approval will not be granted where the trading would not satisfy the Front Page Test.

3.0 Market Misconduct

Market Misconduct is where a person takes part in (either directly or indirectly) a transaction that has or is likely to have the effect of creating an artificial price for trading in Financial Products on a financial market or to maintain a price which is artificial.

Market Manipulation may occur as a result of:

- active trading in financial products in order to create or cause the effect of false or misleading appearances;
- entering into or engaging in fictitious or artificial transactions;
- creating, disseminating or distributing information which could induce a person to buy or sell the asset;
- distributing, publishing or promising information that is not true; or
- through dishonest concealment of material facts.

All Employees are prohibited at all times, from any action that could result in Market Manipulation.

4.0 Netwealth Securities - When can Employees and Connected Persons trade in Netwealth's securities?

4.1 No trading in blackout periods

Employees and their Connected Persons must NOT trade in Netwealth's securities during any of the following blackout periods:

- the period from the close of trading on the ASX on 30 June each year, or if that date is not a trading day, the last trading day before that day, until the day following the announcement to ASX of the full-year results (usually mid August);

- the period from the close of trading on the ASX on 31 December each year, or if that date is not a trading day, the last trading day before that day, until the day following the announcement to ASX of the half-year results (usually mid February); and

- any other period that the Board specifies from time to time.

The Company Secretary will provide an email confirming when Netwealth commences 'blackout'. If you are ever unsure about whether Netwealth is in blackout, please email the Netwealth Trading mailbox at trading@netwealth.com.au

4.2 Exceptional circumstances

If an Employee or their Connected Person needs to trade in securities during a blackout period due to exceptional circumstances and is not in possession of any Inside Information, then the Employee may apply in writing to trading@netwealth.com.au. The trading team will then present the case to:

- either of the Joint Managing Directors (in the case of Senior Executives, Nominated Employees, or their Connected Persons);
- the Chair of the Board (in the case of directors or their Connected Persons);
- the Chair of the Group's Compliance and Risk Management Committee (in the case of the Chair of the Board or his/her Connected Persons).

Approval to trade will only be granted if the Employee's or their Connected Person's application is accompanied by sufficient evidence (in the opinion of the person providing clearance) that the trading is the most reasonable course of action available in the circumstances. The person providing clearance should consult with members of management where appropriate to determine if there is any reason (legal or reputational) why approval to trade should not be granted.

Exceptional circumstances are likely to include severe financial hardship or compulsion by court order.

If approval to trade is granted, the Employee will be notified in writing (which may include notification via email) and in each circumstance the duration of the approval will be within five business days. A record of the approval will be provided to the trading@netwealth.com.au email address and kept on file.

Unless otherwise specified in the notice, any trading permitted under this section 4.2 must comply with the other sections of this Policy.

4.3 Prior approval required for any trading outside blackout periods

(a) During any period that is not a trading blackout period, Employees must, prior to any proposed trading, notify trading@netwealth.com.au and seek approval for the proposed trading in Netwealth's securities (including any proposed trading by one of their Connected Persons).

The only exception to this is where Netwealth has issued a notice to employees that Netwealth is in an 'open' trading window. An 'open' trading window is a bulk pre-approval for a limited period. The Company Secretary will notify staff of this at the time it occurs and will define how long the bulk pre-approval will expire.

Netwealth may do this on the day following its announcement to the market and will generally allow any employee who wishes to trade within the next three-weeks with approval to do so. Employees MUST still confirm their trade by emailing the trade confirmation to trading@netwealth.com.au within 24 hours of completing their trade.

Employees and their connected persons, must check that the notification from the Company Secretary has been received and not removed, prior to trading.

(b) The trading@netwealth.com.au mail box is monitored by the Company Secretary (or their delegate) and the request will be handled as follows:

1) For any Senior Executive or Nominated Employee, the Joint Managing Directors must be informed and have provided approval before a trade is undertaken;

2) For the Chair of the Board the Chair of the Group's Compliance and Risk Management Committee must be informed and have provided approval before a trade is undertaken; and

3) For any other director, the Chair of the Board must be informed and have provided approval before a trade is undertaken.

(c) A request for approval to trade will be answered as soon as practicable.

(d) The Company Secretary (or their delegate) may direct the person who is proposing to trade in the Company's securities not to trade, or impose conditions on the trading in their discretion, and is not obliged to provide reasons for any direction or condition. These instructions would have been provided by the relevant approver.

(e) Following receipt of approval to trade, the approved trading must occur within five business days following approval, otherwise the approval is no longer effective and fresh approval must be sought.

4.4 Confirmation of trade required

Following any trade, Employees must promptly notify trading@netwealth.com.au, ideally by close of business on the day of the trade. This is to assist the Company to comply with its disclosure obligations under the ASX Listing Rules.

5.0 Other restrictions on trading and additional requirements for Employees

5.1 Trading Register

All Employees must keep an up to date register containing information relating to all trading of Financial Products (Trading Register).

The Trading Register must be supplied to trading@netwealth.com.au on request.

5.2 No short-term trading in Netwealth's securities

Employees and their Connected Persons must not deal in Netwealth's securities on a short-term trading basis. Short-term trading includes the buying and selling securities on market within a 3 month period, and entering into other short-term dealings (for example, forward contracts).

Note: Multiple purchases within a 3 month period is acceptable – this strategy may be used to assist in obtaining an average cost over a period, but the Employee or their Connected Person must not sell the NWL securities within 3 months of the last purchase. Similarly, multiple sales within a 3 month period is acceptable, but the Employee or their Connected Person must not purchase the NWL securities within 3 months of the last sale.

For the purpose of this section an 'Employee' and a 'Connected Person' are considered separately, as long as the NWL securities have not been transferred between the individuals. For example, an Employee purchases NWL securities within their wrap account in April, and a Connected Person sells NWL securities in May. This is not considered short-term trading UNLESS the Employee has transferred those NWL securities to the Connected Person.

Where an Employee or a Connected Person need to make a short-term trade, a request to the NWL Board may be made. The NWL Board have discretion to authorise a short-term trade where there is a reasonable grounds for doing so.

5.3 Margin lending arrangements

(a) Employees and their Connected Persons must obtain approval in accordance with the procedure set out within this Policy for any proposed dealing in the Netwealth's securities in connection with a margin lending arrangement.

(b) Examples of such dealings include:

1) entering into a margin lending arrangement in respect of the Netwealth's securities;

2) transferring securities in Netwealth into an existing margin loan account; and

3) selling securities in Netwealth to satisfy a call pursuant to a margin loan.

(c) The relevant approver may, at its discretion, make any approval granted in accordance with this Policy conditional upon such terms and conditions as Netwealth sees fit (for example, regarding the circumstances in which Netwealth's securities may be sold to satisfy a margin call).

5.4 Hedging of Company securities

Hedging includes entering into transactions in Financial Products that operate to limit the economic risk associated with holding Company securities.

Under this Policy, hedging of the Company's securities is subject to the following rules:

(a) any Employee or their Connected Persons must not enter into, renew, alter or close out a hedge transaction when they are in possession of Inside Information;

(b) Company securities acquired under an Employee share plan operated by the Company must never be hedged prior to vesting;

(c) Company securities that are subject to a holding lock or restriction on dealing under the terms of an Employee share plan operated by the Company must never be hedged; and

(d) Employees and their Connected Persons are permitted to hedge their vested and unrestricted Company securities provided that the hedge transaction is treated as a dealing in Company securities for the purposes of this Policy, and the relevant approvals and notifications required under section 4 are made on that basis.

6.0 Are any dealings excluded from this Policy?

Sections 4.1, 4.3 and 5.2 of this Policy do not apply to:

(a) participation in an Employee incentive plan operated by Netwealth. However, where securities in Netwealth granted under an Employee incentive plan cease to be held under the terms of that plan, any dealings in Netwealth securities must only occur in accordance with this Policy;

(b) the following categories of trades:

- acquisition of Netwealth securities through a dividend reinvestment plan;
- acquisition of Netwealth securities through a share purchase plan available to all retail shareholders;
- acquisition of Netwealth securities through a rights issue; and
- the disposal of Netwealth securities through the acceptance of a takeover offer, scheme of arrangement or equal access buy-back;

(c) dealings that result in no material change to the beneficial interest in the securities (for example, transfers of Netwealth securities already held by an Employee or their Connected Person into a superannuation fund or trust of which the Employee or their Connected Person is a beneficiary);

(d) trading under a pre-approved non-discretionary trading plan by a non-executive director where:

- the non-executive director is required under a Netwealth policy to acquire Netwealth securities over a period of time;
- the non-executive director did not enter into the plan or amend the plan during a blackout period;
- the plan does not permit the non-executive director to exercise any influence or discretion in relation to trading under the plan; and
- the plan cannot be cancelled during a blackout period, other than in exceptional circumstances; and

(e) a disposal of securities of Netwealth that is the result of a secured lender exercising their rights, for example, under a margin lending arrangement.

However, such dealings remain subject to the Insider Trading rules in the Corporations Act. Please refer to the Group Insider Trading and Market Manipulation Policy for more information.

7.0 Declarations and Breaches

7.1 Annual declaration

All employees will be asked to complete an annual declaration in relation to their compliance with the Policy.

7.2 Breaches of the Policy

Breaches of the Australian Insider Trading laws have serious consequences for the Employee or Connected Person concerned as well as Netwealth. Penalties under the Corporations Act include financial penalties and imprisonment.

Independently, breaches of this Policy will be regarded by Netwealth as serious and will be subject to appropriate sanctions.

Any person who is suspected of breaching this Policy may be suspended from attending the workplace on full pay pending the outcome of investigations into the alleged breach.

Any person who breaches this Policy could face disciplinary action (including forfeiture of securities and/or suspension or termination of employment).

We will take a substance over form approach and will have regard to the intent and spirit of this Policy when applying and enforcing it.
