

RYMAN HEALTHCARE LIMITED

FINANCIAL PRODUCT TRADING POLICY

OVERVIEW

Ryman Healthcare Limited (Ryman) supports the integrity of New Zealand's financial markets and is committed to complying with all legal and statutory requirements. The integrity of the financial markets is maintained, in part, through the insider trading laws that apply in New Zealand. This policy outlines how those laws apply, as well as the rules that Ryman has put in place to support those laws.

The requirements in this policy are separate from (and in addition to) the legal prohibitions on insider trading in New Zealand and any other country where Ryman's financial products may be listed in the future.

WHO DOES THIS POLICY APPLY TO?

All directors and employees of Ryman and its subsidiaries (Ryman Group) must follow this policy when they intend to trade in Ryman's quoted financial products.

Additional trading restrictions apply to directors and certain Ryman Group employees who are more likely to have access to material information relating to Ryman; known as Restricted Persons. These additional trading restrictions are explained in the Appendix: Additional Trading Restrictions for Restricted Persons below.

WHAT FINANCIAL PRODUCTS ARE COVERED BY THIS POLICY?

This policy applies to Ryman's ordinary shares which are listed and traded on the NZX Main Board (NZX: RYM) and Ryman's retail bonds which are listed on the NZX debt market (NZDX: RYM010). It also applies to any other quoted financial products of the Ryman Group from time to time, and derivatives of any quoted financial products of the Ryman Group. Together, in this policy, these are referred to as Ryman products.

TRADING RESTRICTIONS

It is prohibited for anyone to which this policy applies to trade in any Ryman products except in the following periods:

- from the day on which Ryman's full-year results are released, until 31 August in that year; and
- from the day on which Ryman's half-year results are released, until 31 January in the following year, unless a specific exemption is granted in exceptional circumstances.

Trading outside of the trading windows or in any other period that the chair of the audit, finance and risk committee specifies from time to time is known as trading in blackout and is a breach of this policy.

WHAT IS MEANT BY 'TRADE' AND WHAT IS EXCLUDED?

In this policy, trade includes buying or selling Ryman products (or agreeing to do so), whether as principal or agent.

This policy does not apply to the subscription for, or the issue of, new Ryman products such as an issue of new shares under a rights issue or a dividend reinvestment plan (if this becomes relevant) or acquisitions/disposals of Ryman products by gift or inheritance.

Nothing in this policy precludes a Restricted Person in possession of material information from acquiring Ryman products under a short-term incentive or long-term incentive or acquiring or disposing of KiwiSaver products which may hold Ryman products as part of their portfolio.

FUNDAMENTAL RULE – INSIDER TRADING IS PROHIBITED

If you possess material information (see definition below), then whether or not you are a Restricted Person (as defined below), it is illegal for you to:

- trade Ryman products;
- advise or encourage others to trade, or hold any Ryman products; or
- pass on material information to others – including workmates, family or friends – where you know (or should know) that the other person will use that information to trade, continue to hold, or advise or encourage someone else to trade, or hold, Ryman products.

The prohibitions on trading apply regardless of how you learn of the information, and regardless of why you are trading.

The prohibition on insider trading applies not only to information concerning Ryman's financial products. If a person has material information in relation to quoted financial products of another issuer (including derivatives in respect of such quoted financial products), that person must not trade in those financial products. This offence is called "insider trading". It can expose you to criminal liability including large fines and/or imprisonment, and civil liability, which may include being sued by another person or Ryman, for any loss suffered as a result of illegal trading.

YOU HAVE A DUTY OF CONFIDENTIALITY TO RYMAN

You have a duty of confidentiality to Ryman at all times.

In particular, you:

- must not provide any confidential information concerning the Ryman Group to a third party (unless that third party has signed a confidentiality agreement with Ryman and you have been authorised to disclose the confidential information);
- must not use that confidential information in any way that may cause harm or loss to the Ryman Group, or to gain a personal advantage for yourself or others; and
- need to ensure that external advisers keep Ryman Group information confidential.

WHAT IS MATERIAL INFORMATION?

Material information is information that:

- is not generally available to the market; and
- if it were generally available to the market, would have a material effect on the price of Ryman's quoted financial products.

Information is generally available to the market if it has been released as an NZX announcement, or investors that commonly invest in Ryman's quoted financial products can readily obtain the information.

It does not matter how you come to know the material information (including whether you learn it in the course of carrying out your responsibilities, or in passing in the corridor, or in a lift, or at a social function). Information includes rumours, matters of supposition and intentions of any person (including Ryman).

Material information could include any of the following types of information that has not been released to the market:

- Ryman Group's financial performance;
- a possible strategic change for the Ryman Group;
- a material transaction concerning the Ryman Group;
- a possible change in Ryman's capital structure;
- any change in Ryman's dividend paying practice; or
- a material legal claim or issue involving the Ryman Group.

These are illustrations only, and don't limit what else might also be material information.

SHORT TERM TRADING IS DISCOURAGED

Refrain from engaging in short-term trading of Ryman shares (defined as buying or selling within a three-month period) unless exceptional circumstances apply. Where exceptional circumstances apply, you must discuss these circumstances with the Group Chief Financial Officer and obtain prior approval to trade. Frequent or substantial short-term trading may be seen as indicative of insider trading. To mitigate the risk of allegations of insider trading, it is prudent to avoid short-term transactions involving Ryman shares.

IF IN DOUBT, DO NOT TRADE

The rules contained in this policy do not replace your legal obligations. The boundary between what is (and is not) in breach of the law is not always clear. If in doubt, either do not trade or seek advice.

BREACHES OF POLICY

Strict compliance with this policy is a condition of employment with the Ryman Group. Breaches of this policy will be subject to disciplinary action, which may include termination of employment.

MONITORING OF TRADING

Ryman may monitor the trading of directors and employees as part of the administration of this policy.

APPLICATION OF POLICY

This policy is owned by the Chief Financial Officer and has been approved by the Board.
